Study Title: FoodSaver

Introduction

You are invited to participate in a research study conducted by FoodSaver Project Team at Imam Abdulrahman Bin Faisal University.

Your participation is voluntary. You may stop at any time or skip any question. Your decision will not affect your grades, employment, or your relationship with the university, the research team, or the Department of Computer Science.

Purpose of the Study:

The purpose of this research is to identify and understand individuals' behavior in handling food at home, tracking expirations, and handling food waste. The results of this research will contribute to developing and enhancing the FoodSaver mobile application, aiming to prevent food waste in homes by tracking food, reminding users, and providing recipes.

Who Can Participate:

Adults aged 18 years or older, involved in the activity of grocery shopping, cooking, or handling food at home, such as parents, students living alone, or family members handling food at home.

Time Required:

About 10 to 20 minutes.

Study Location:

Face-to-face in a comfortable environment (such as the participant's home or a quiet meeting area).

What You Will Do:

You will be asked to undergo a short interview wherein you will be asked to answer questions regarding your food shopping habits, food storage habits, tracking of expiration dates of foodstuffs, and the most common causes of food spoilage. Notes will be taken during the interview, and audio recording will be done with your permission.

Risks:

There are no expected risks.

Benefits:

There is no direct benefit, but your participation will support academic research.

Confidentiality:

All information will be kept confidential and used only for academic purposes.
